Scale your startup with Cloudflare

Security, performance, and reliability solutions for every phase of your company's growth. All in one place.
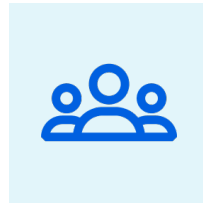

Protect and accelerate your websites, apps, and teams

Startup leaders have enough on their plates without worrying about the possibility of a cyber attack or an outage. Cloudflare helps you defend against cyber attacks and stay online so you can focus on growing your company.

Security and performance

Cloudflare helps you defend against DDoS attacks, data breaches, and abusive bots, without sacrificing performance.
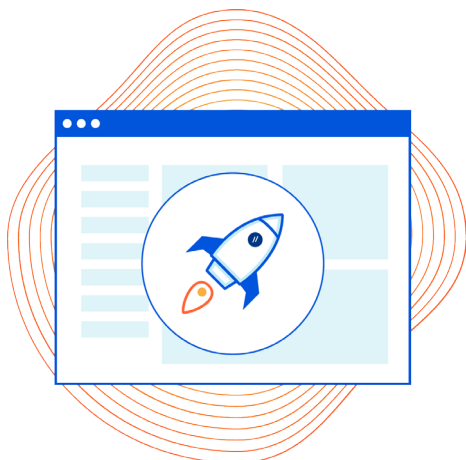

Protect your remote teams

As your startup grows, securely grant and manage employees' and contractors' access to internal systems with Cloudflare Access.

Deploy faster with serverless

With Cloudflare Workers, developers can focus on writing code instead of worrying about infrastructure.

Built for companies at any stage of growth

As a startup, you're focused on getting to the next stage of growth. To get there, your Internet properties need to be secure and high-performing. At Cloudflare, we serve everyone from individual developers and hobbyists to the enterprise.

Whatever stage your startup is at, our security and performance product suite can help protect and accelerate your Internet properties. Gain customer trust by securing your site with the threat intelligence of our network, which spans over 200 cities in 100+ countries. Reach out to our team today to get started.

Why startups choose Cloudflare

Unified control plane

Instead of relying on isolated solutions, deliver security, performance, and reliability with Cloudflare. Cloudflare is also cloud platform agnostic, so you can maintain visibility even in a distributed infrastructure.

Ease of use

Your technical solutions should work with you, not against you. Get up and running in 5 minutes and manage all of your Cloudflare products from a single dashboard.

Predictable pricing

As a startup, how you spend every dollar counts. Our flat-rate pricing means you can avoid paying expensive overages and budget effectively.

Data privacy

Meeting your GDPR obligations is easy with Cloudflare because our network and products are built with data privacy in mind.

Data visibility

Want to know what is going on with your network? Cloudflare's analytics capabilities give you the deep insights you need to protect and accelerate your Internet properties.

"If a startup founder came to me and said they were worried about security or scale, I would tell them to partner with Cloudflare. Cloudflare knows what they're doing."
